No more Scab in Sheep.

The undersigned an old sheep farmer in the south of the provinces after many years of study in the pernicious infirmity of the scab, has at last discovered an infallible remedy against a sickness that in the body where it generally breaks out likes storm resisting all the remedies that to this time have been discovered,

This specific so simple in its application as great in its result, is preferable to all invented until now, it is cheaper than tobacco, and free from poisonous substances contained in all other remedies before invented.

With only one ayrobe of my specific there is sufficient for the Scab of 800 or 1000 sheep, and at the low price of $ 100, I will facilitate all sheep farmers to receive their sheep in a perfect state of healthiness; to make known this remedy and induce farmers to use it, I have determined to sell small packages of one h at $ 48 which I hold at every one's disposition who wants to prove its infallibility.

Instructions for its application will be given in the deposit of specific against the scab.

SWEARING THE CONSTITUTION.

To day is the ninth anniversary of the provincial Constitution and hence declared a civic holiday for the entire mural province of Buenos Ayres, but not in the city, this being Federal territory. The observance of the day is no a-literal fiction, as the number of go vicissitudes have occurred since D Pastor Obligado became 1st constitutional Governor of B. Ayres. Never theless we regard the 22nd of May 1854 as a landmark in the tide of progress and, although a retrograde policy of civil dissension at times set in, we may date many great improvements from the swearing of the Constitution.

Magna Charta is justly prized by the gladness of it only has enslaved the actual charter of British liberties. In like manner the defective code at present existing will, let a day not very distant, prove a bulwark of provincial honor.

Let it not be thought that the writer seek to reform the constitution in its enemies: they are rather zealous advocates who wish to raise it towards perfection and make it more suitable to the wants of the people. What the provincial charter shall be better hammered with the action of National Government: what shall be a definite "prestige" to make the law respected in every part of the State: when it shall declare penal all conspiracy against its friendly Government, and in the words of Dr. RAWSON "leave not a fout of soil to harbor the "disturbers of law and order" then indeed a double crown of praise will be accorded to the author and reformer of this great essay of Legislation.

If we bear in mind that the Constitution of 1854 concedes privileges and rights to foreign residents, greater than those enjoyed by any other country, not even excepting the United States, greater, almost, than those possessed by Argentines, and ample as the most ultra-foreigner could wish, we have a special motive for congratulation on this anniversary. In truth, however, we must add that all these liberti s are not fully enjoyed, by our countrymen through the imperfect administration of many laws.

Neither can we hope great things from a minister like Dr. Acosta, who advises the abrogation of a foreigner's municipal exemption as if ignoring the generosity of his predecessor, in this respect.

Nevertheless the march of intellect and liberal sentiments predominate, and we have reason to hope that ere long the Constitution of 1854 will not contain a single clause which may be a dead letter through the corruption or ignorance of minor officials, but that all dwellers in the Provinces of Buenos Aires, native and foreign, will hold as their most valued birthright the programme sworn on this day, nine years ago.

FINANCE MEASURES.

In a recent impression, we directed attention to the provisions of the New Customs Law, and we now purpose to discharge a similar duty to the project of law for the extension of Banking facilities in the provinces of the republic. In doing so, we do not at present intend to suggest what we might consider improvements in a measure that aims at laying the foundation of our banking and commercial system. At a future period, we may venture to suggest some contingencies it may be well to provide for, as well as the most efficient mode of meeting them. In the meantime, we confine ourselves to the examination of the measure in its present form, and to inquire if the conditions on which the Government are willing to authorize the circulation of private banks, are such as will induce the Banks to avail themselves of the privilege, and if so, are the precautions taken by the Government to secure the convertibility of the notes such as would in times of pressure and commercial insecurity, effectually answer the object?

It is obvious that the value of such a measure will depend on the extent to which capitalists may be disposed to use the right of emis ion, and also on the efficacy of the precautions taken to provide for the conversion of the notes. If the emission of notes leaves no profit or advantage to Bank ers, then the law will be inoperative and a dead letter. If the provisions for the conversion of the notes are not sufficient, or either clumsy or unnecessarily public in their operation, then the proposed change is fraught with danger to our commerce, and in times of times of panic and commercial distrust, "could only aggravate the evils it is intended to cure.

Before indicating what we consider the weak points of the measure, we may indicate its scope, for the information of those readers who have not paid any attention to the subject. The right of emission, as conceded to all Banks or private individuals pessessing a capital of 200,000 silver dollars. Notes to be payable on demand: permission is to be given to issue notes up to 75 per cent of the written value of National or other bonds, to be lodged with a superintendent of Banks, who will then deliver bank notes of a corresponding value—such note to be legal tender as payment of duties, and the capital of the Bank to be free from the Convulsion Directa! The notes of the Bank to have precedence of all other debts, and in default of payment in coin, on presentation, the Superintendent of Banks has power to sell at public auction the securities he holds.

What, then, are the advantages conceded to Banks who avail themselves of the privilege? They appear to be as to be three in number. Their capitals will be free from Contribution Directa,' their notes will be received by the Treasury Houses and other public offices as legal tender, and they may issue notes in accordance with the proportion of 75 per cent. Some of these concessions that has the appearance of an important advantage is the right of emission. That the Convulsion Directa may be evaded or aboli hed altogether; and so long as Banks issuing the notes pay them on demand, the Government will be relieved from the necessity of preferring them to our present clumsy and inconvenient gold coinage. Unless the issue and circulation of the notes are restricted by the most precisions will be valueless in inducing the Bank to take advantage of the law. We have not been able to inquire what extent this will be a source of profit. If there were no conditions attached to the permission to issue notes, it is obvious that the profit on loans and other business would be so much gain to the Banks, less a very small deduction for the expenses of management, losses from forgery and other contingences, to which the business of Banking is open. We fear a stronger inducement than this is necessary to induce Bankers to take advantage of the permission proposed to be accorded by the Minister.

The arrangements offered to bankers are inconsiderable, let us examine if the interests of the public and the security and stability of our commerce are more efficiently provided for. The consideration of a satisfactory provision for the redemption of the issue are two in number. The universal test of a Bank issuing the notes should be beyond all question, and also that provision be made for cashing them, as soon as they are presented. The provision for the ultimate payment is that the capital of the Banks—paid up we suppose—shall be 200,000 patacones, the bonds deposited with Government at the time the notes are issued, and the preference they enjoy over the other holders of the Bank. The difficulty in this is open to question. Business may be commenced with the required 200,000 patacones, but it would not be difficult for a Bank of bad British management. The Parana bonds might also not be found to mean much when they came to be realized into cash. Let us suppose however, that sooner or later the holders of notes would be paid. There still remains the provision to be made for the redemption of notes on presentation. On this point the proposal of the Minister is quite silent. A period is not stated, it is true, is to be made to the Government Superintendent of Banks cash and other balances. As at present proposed however, this may as frequently prove a shelter as the presence of money in the coffers of the Bank. The proposed law makes no provision for retaining any metallic reserve in the Bank. The Minister has the discretion or the necessity and management of the Bank. This is not as it should be; it may appear to do well in prosperous times, when business glides on swiftly and steadily; let a time of pressure come, let the solvency of the Bank be questioned, and the business of the run on the Bank will ensue, the result of which might be fatal to the establishment, and shake the entire community of Buenos Ayres.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The "Mersey" will not leave until the 28th inst. The "Weekly Standard" and Packet edition will be ready on Wednesday morning, and the mail will take an unusual number of passengers. Some of our leading merchants, Railway concessionaires, Engineers and others will go with this boat, all a pleasant trip, and a speedy return. We hope that the rumour of a war between England and France will not run foul of our foundation, as we should be sorry to hear, that any Yankee privateer should run foul of our mail steamer with any unfriendly friends on board.

The Inca Victoria is so fixed up that the oldest inhabitant would hardly recognize her as the same boat. Whether the municipality will spend more powder in the ensuing three days than Flores since he began, Twenty Judgement Dollars is the question.

We hope that if the Statues are to be draped this year, decency will be consulted.

The mortality amongst our fellow-countrymen, is at present truly awful. In this day's paper, our readers will see by the National Administration and the recovery of duties and payment of salaries shall be effected in accordance.

Art. 4th. The Exchange decided upon by the National Executive to the Custom House or other dues were paid in the Capital or Province of Buenos Ayres in specie, the National Controller will order their salaries in the Capital and Province of Buenos Ayres may be paid in the same manner.

Art. 5th. Let it be communicated published and given to the National Register.

CHURCH MUSIC.

We have so often declaimed against the indecency of playing Travists, Trovatores and Bohemian Girls, in the Cathedral, that we dread repeating the theme lest we be declared Jesuits, Federal, or ultra-montane, by our sensitive colleagues. It is, therefore, sufficient to reproduce the following injunction of a reverend prelate who is beyond all suspicion of complicity with Patufeas, or unjust prejudice against the Tridentine patriots.

Bishop Timon, of Buffalo, has issued to the clergy of his diocese, in which he treats many matters of discipline, and among others the music that is sung in the churches, which he says has reached a point of impropriety that demands his interference. Musical flourishes during Divine Service have always been reprehended in the early ages of the Church as well as at present. In 1740 the Pope issued an edict on this subject, in which these words

Say profit on the same $ 8000
Or a margin rather more than 6 p. $ per annum to provide for the expenses of management, losses from forgery and other contingences, to which the business of Banking is open. We fear a stronger inducement than this is necessary to induce Bankers to take advantage of the permission proposed to be accorded by the Minister.

The arrangements offered to bankers are inconsiderable, let us examine if the interests of the public and the security and stability of our commerce are more efficiently provided for. The consideration of a satisfactory provision for the redemption of the issue are two in number. The universal test of a Bank issuing the notes should be beyond all question, and also that provision be made for cashing them, as soon as they are presented. A period is not stated, it is true, is to be made to the Government Superintendent of Banks cash and other balances. As at present proposed however, this may as frequently prove a shelter as the presence of money in the coffers of the Bank. The proposed law makes no provision for retaining any metallic reserve in the Bank. The Minister has the discretion or the necessity and management of the Bank. This is not as it should be; it may appear to do well in prosperous times, when business glides on swiftly and steadily; let a time of pressure come, let the solvency of the Bank be questioned, and the business of the run on the Bank will ensue, the result of which might be fatal to the establishment, and shake the entire community of Buenos Ayres.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The "Mersey" will not leave until the 28th inst. The "Weekly Standard" and Packet edition will be ready on Wednesday morning, and the mail will take an unusual number of passengers. Some of our leading merchants, Railway concessionaires, Engineers and others will go with this boat, all a pleasant trip, and a speedy return. We hope that the rumour of a war between England and France will not run foul of our foundation, as we should be sorry to hear, that any Yankee privateer should run foul of our mail steamer with any unfriendly friends on board.

The Inca Victoria is so fixed up that the oldest inhabitant would hardly recognize her as the same boat. Whether the municipality will spend more powder in the ensuing three days than Flores since he began, Twenty Judgement Dollars is the question.

We hope that if the Statues are to be draped this year, decency will be consulted.

The mortality amongst our fellow-countrymen, is at present truly awful. In this day's paper, our readers will see by the National Administration and the recovery of duties and payment of salaries shall be effected in accordance.

Art. 4th. The Exchange decided upon by the National Executive to the Custom House or other dues were paid in the Capital or Province of Buenos Ayres in specie, the National Controller will order their salaries in the Capital and Province of Buenos Ayres may be paid in the same manner.

Art. 5th. Let it be communicated published and given to the National Register.

CHURCH MUSIC.

We have so often declaimed against the indecency of playing Travists, Trovatores and Bohemian Girls, in the Cathedral, that we dread repeating the theme lest we be declared Jesuits, Federal, or ultra-montane, by our sensitive colleagues. It is, therefore, sufficient to reproduce the following injunction of a reverend prelate who is beyond all suspicion of complicity with Patufeas, or unjust prejudice against the Tridentine patriots.

Bishop Timon, of Buffalo, has issued to the clergy of his diocese, in which he treats many matters of discipline, and among others the music that is sung in the churches, which he says has reached a point of impropriety that demands his interference. Musical flourishes during Divine Service have always been reprehended in the early ages of the Church as well as at present. In 1740 the Pope issued an edict on this subject, in which these words of St. Nicetus are quoted:—"Let the music come round with our holy relics and not with the music of worldly festival flourishes. Let it direct your minds to Christian thoughts Permit not in it theatrical modulations. Let it excite in you true sorrow for your sins." Twenty six years ago, the Third Provincial Council of Baltimore, legislating for the Diocese of Philadelphia, in Decree 244 says: "We warn all Pastors of Churches that they carefully watch to eradicate the abuses that have crept in to this country the abuses which have crept in, et them take care that the music serve as an aid and help for a sitting only at the Adorable Sacrifice, but that the Sacrifice be never used to subserve the music." The Bishop gave directions that the Pastoral should be read at the last Mass on Sunday, which, in most of our churches, is the only service at which music is given.—Boston Pilot.

ACCIDENTS.

One of our English physicians sustained yesterday a serious fall from his horse in Paseo Julio, the animal dragging the unfortunate man, as his foot had been entangled in the stirrup: we are happy to learn he is not much hurt.

Mr. Thompson of Magdalena was assaulted on Wednesday afternoon, outside Venezuela, by a ruffian who snatched her purse and ran way. It was before four o'clock and although she screamed "Ladrones" the persons passing by were unable to arrest him.

We read in the "Siglo" that a carter of the Alsina Estate fell from the cart he was run over, being in a hopeless condition.

A PRIZE RECAPTURED BY A WOMAN.

Among the American vessels captured by the Rebellion was the American brigantine J. P. Ellicott, 233 tons, of Bucksport, Me., A. Dwinnax master, from Boston for Glenfuegos, Cuba. She was captured on the 12th of February, in lat 30d 28 degrees 12 minutes south, and longitude 68 degrees 53 minutes west. Three men now were taken on board the privateer and placed in irons. A prize crew was put on board the brig, consisting of Gilbert, Hay, a Scotchman, prize master, recently from Fort Lafayette, and John Gilbert, mate, and five seamen.

The captain and first mate of J. P. Ellicott were accompanied by their wives. The wife of the mate was left on board the brig. This woman had access to her husband at the hands of the prize master and his mate, and managed to get them intoxicated, when she proposed to the seamen who were mostly all negroes from St Thomas, to make them prisoners and to take the vessel. She took iron handcuffs from the mate, and, with their assistance, put the rebels in irons and took possession of the vessel on the 12th of January. She had studied navigation on the voyage with her husband, and, having assumed command, sailed for St. Thomas till she spoken French vessels from which she got her course. She made Tortola, one of the Virgin Islands, to the windward of St Thomas where she was piloted by negroes to St. Thomas where she arrived on the 17th ult., and placed her in the hands of John T. Bigelow United States Consul, who put the master, mate and first seaman on board the United States steamer Alabama.

CORDOBA RAILWAY.

Congress—Deputies

The Chamber met yesterday, 37 members present—Sr Uriburu in the chair.

Mr. Wheelwright's contract as ratified by the Senators, and Dr Adolfo Alsina's vote of censures against President Mitre formed the order of the day. The Secretary of Interior stood up for the reading of the contract was about to commence, when Sr Pizarro (Cordova) asked him whether Mr Wheelwright were anxious to leave by the Cordova packet (28th inst)? The Minister replied in the affirmative, adding that it was urgent to conclude the matter before his departure.

Sr Pizarro then moved that the contract remain itself in extraordinary session, until the contract be disposed of (agitation among the Deputies.)

Sr Marmol "Do you mean to keep us here until midnight?"

Sr Pizarro insisted that some measure evinced a determination to precipitate debate, from some minister motives (great excitement.)

Sr. Alsina & some others, shouting "Explain, explain." Sr Pizarro declined to would explain when and where desired, that he was convinced of bad faith &c.

Here a regular scene ensued; and length order was restored.

The Chairman begged Sr Pizarro to withdraw his motion as the contract was in discussion: the latter consented to postpone, but not withdraw, it.

D. Pastor Obligado opposed Art. 1 because it did not specify the construction should be first-rate, and as the Company would deliver up the railway at the end of 90 years, 1 meanwhile would be of an unbuirable kind"

Sor Gorostenga corrected this statement, showing that the concession was to be guaranteed only being limited to 4 years—passed unanimously

Art. 2. was que tioned by D. A. C. Obligado, as to the necessity of fixing any capital.

Art. 3. was mal-interpreted by D. A. Alsina.

Art. 4. unopposed, these 3 pressing unanimously.

Art. 5. was combated by Sor Marmol, with reference to the free use of public forests, which it appears are found nowhere, except the Chaco.

Article 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, passed with only D. J. C. Obligado opposed the increase of guarantee [Art. 15] from 6,000 to 8,400$ per mile.

Art. 16 was passing as Minister Rawson shewed the addition £400 was but the increase due to sharelol ers, which was guaranteed (apart) in the law of Sept. '62.

Dr. Alsina also opposed the division it resulted Ayes 34—Noes 3.

Dr Pastor Obligado opposed Art. 16 for fixing 7 per cent interest on shares (laughter).

Dr Rawson explained that this difficulty arose in the Treasury, but was simply an ligation fixed on the concessionaire.

Articles 16, 17, 18, 19, 20 passed unanimously.

A great debate ensued on Art. 21 touching the width of the line from Montevideo. Marmol, etc, opposing the amendment introduced by the Senate.

The hour being late, we do not know the result.

It will be observed that the only opposition to the contract was on the part of the Provincials, who all (except M. M. Gutierres and Cantilo) seemed to justify the truth of Sr Pizarro's insinuation.

DIED.

On the morning of the 22n l inst, at the residence of her son in law, Mr. E. T. Mulhall, 74 calle Belgrano, Mrs. Eliza Blewitt, aged 46 years, widow of the late James Blewitt, formerly of Litchfield, England, and late of Rosario, Buenos Ayres.

Staffordshire Papers please copy.

In calle San Martin, No. 172, Mr. Joseph Lord, aged 35 years Deceased was a native of Scotland.

In Parraras, on the 21st inst, at his foundry establishment, Mr. Thomas Hutchens, aged 55 years a native of Cornwall, deceased was for many years a resident in this country, and a well known boiler maker.

At his residence, in this city on the 21st inst, Mr. J. Gibson, merchant tailor, aged 45 years, native of After a tedious illness. Dec, was a native of Scotland, and for many years a resident of this country.

LOCAL EVENTS.

MINISTER TO THE STATE—The "Siglo" indicates the proximate nomination of an ambassador from this country to the United States. We hope that such be the case. Statements present Governor of San Juan.

We think we can find a better man General Paunero is eminently qualified for that post, he may do this country incalculable services abroad. By absenting himself from home. Partly by the nature of the st a is diplomatic than those unfortunately not suitable for his tastes but unfortunately our relations with those countries, are in a very unsettled state and do not require an embassy at present.

ITALIAN NAVY—The Fulminante Italian corvette is shortly expected from Naples. It is reported that the object of the st a is diplomatic from the Montevideo Government

Mr. WILLIAM LEES—The talented acrobat now performing at Colon is rapidly improving from his late severe cold and yesterday went out for exercise and visited our offices.

The Director of Interior states that he will be performed until he is entirely recovered.

ONCE SEPTEMBRE.—The brochure of this place have protested in the strongest manner against some of the proposed changes in the Customs tariff.

Although in some particulars we differ from them yet we beg to observe that it does not seem to us that their fundamental arguments are right; they should not bring forward their views in case which might induce people to believe they want a monopoly like that already established by dealers, but rather should endeavour to do some service in the compulsory creation of agricultural pursuits in a country like this where the standard occupation of the surrounding scenes is peculiarly fitted for the development of nomade habits.

Proficiency in equestrianism appears to us to be indispensable with a low state of civilization and the Arab, the Cossaks and south american indians offer a remarkable example. Were our "gauchs" deprived of their horse and cause quently amenable to law for every frequent offence they would be influenced by the force of example and fear of punishment and under this point of view the development of agricultural pursuits would be the best remedy.

PROMOTIONS.—The National Governent have granted a promotion to the aid de campo of General Mitre.

LETTERS AT THIS OFFICE.—Per May packet: Robert Mills Esq, Miss Bridget Foord (from Mullingar), Patrick Sweeny, Arrecifes, W. Nagle "Retiro del Sud."

THE FEAST prepared by the municipality will commence on the 28th, 29th and 30th. There will be fire on three nights and a company of mounted banks will perform from one o'clock. The sale of subsidies in the Bolsa will commence on Saturday at 10 a. m. and the prizes will be distributed as follows
